NTIS

WHO ARE WE?

- National Technical Information Service (NTIS), Technology Administration (U.S. Department of Commerce)
- Created 50 years ago to provide permanent access to nation's scientific, technical, engineering, and business information
- Provide service support to agencies across government to help manage distribution of information to constituents
- Home of FEDINFO (largest online marketplace in government)

WHAT IS IN OUR COLLECTION?

- Nearly 3 million information products dating back to early 1900s
- Both public and private information products from foreign as well as domestic sources
- All media types (paper, microfiche, diskettes, tapes, CDs, audio and video tapes)

NTIS
Information is our business.

WHAT IS IN OUR COLLECTION? (CONTINUED)

- Collection is growing - 160,000 new additions in 1996
- Primary collection fed by mandatory deposit from ATPA
- Special legacy collections transferred to NTIS as agency budgets decline
- All documents will always be available for public sale from searchable listings with delivery on demand

OUR WORLD IS CHANGING!

- Our entire business process has been automated
 - fully automatic Internet/credit card ordering
 - electronic document storage and retrieval
 - print on demand both local and remote
 - direct file downloads
- 50% of primary collection now arrives as TIFF group IV images
- Some agencies now supplying electronic documents in word processing formats on diskette or by direct download
- Incoming paper and microfiche are now scanned at input

CHANGING THE WAY WE DO BUSINESS

Now

- Paper, microfiche, or custom CD-ROM from image
- Same day shipping - document printed within minutes of order
- Fully automated ordering via Internet with or without secure credit card transactions
